Part-Time QA Analyst

Description

As the QA analyst in our close-knit team, you'll test new features before they're released to users. If you have a keen attention to detail, we'd love for you to join our team. This is a part-time paid position with flexible hours, averaging 15-20hrs/week.

Responsibilities

- Collaborate directly with software developers in an agile development environment to develop test plans for new features
- Run quality assurance tests to ensure the system operates effectively, accurately, and safely
- Document and communicate test results
- Identify usability problems with new features that detract from patients' and clinicians' user-friendly experience, and communicate these findings to the team

Qualifications

- Strong work ethic and keen attention to detail
- Clear and concise writing in English
- Passion for learning new skills while working on innovative products
- High degree of initiative

Pluses if you have any of the following

- Experience with software testing
- Education in a related field, for example, Kinesiology, Physical therapy, Computer science, Interaction Design
